Bullet wounds and cuts. Shape a piece of wax and put it on the skin. Smooth it out with a spatula and dig a hole or make cuts.

Colour the base with black and red. Pour the stage blood into the wound and let it run a little.

Paint the papier-mâché skull with a base colour. Draw eyes on compressed cotton balls and put them in the skull's eye sockets.

Glue the skull onto a stick and tie on a smaller horizontal stick.

Use an Artline 70 permanent marker for drawing a skull on the face mask.

Use an Artline 70 permanent marker for filling in the outlined areas.

Paint a skeleton on a T-shirt. Use Textile Solid which is an opaque fabric paint.

Finish the design and fix with an iron, placing baking paper between the iron and the T-Shirt.

Halloween – Role Play

All cool boys love horror, thrills, eeriness and blood! ☐ ☐ If you have the right materials, it is easy to make deadly wounds and cuts that look so real your mum will get a fright! ☐ ☐ If you don't like blood, but like creepy costumes, here is an easy idea for a skeleton costume. ☐ ☐ Add the finishing touches with your very own skull stick, which will make all the other boys green with envy.
